

Event registration for fellow events at the Collegium Helveticum

This is a factsheet about the registration of attendees of fellow events, like the one you are organizing.

These are examples of event registrations made via Google Forms:

Since all events at the Collegium are free of charge, we noticed in the past that some people register for an event without showing up. This is the reason why we are reluctant in offering registration. The number of registrations is only a rough indication of how many people might be interested in your event.

If you still wish to announce your event on our webpage with a registration, the events team can create a Google Forms document for you. The link to the registration sheet will be uploaded to the event webpage and distributed accordingly (e.g. by you and your associate fellow within your institute/departments).

We always inform the people who want to register that:
The limited seats (Rudolf Wolf Room: 20 pers.; Meridian Hall: 70 pers.) are given away on a first come, first served basis (no seat reservations). We can only offer a preliminary registration, which is without any correspondence from our side, and they will not receive any confirmation.

The image shows a sustainability rating card for asparagus. The card is titled 'SUSTAINABILITY RATING' and has a color-coded scale from LOW (green) to MED (yellow) to HIGH (red). The card is placed on a wooden surface next to some asparagus spears.
